Please provide a brief description of the organization:

Le Colline di Santo Stefano is a social promotion association registered in the Lazio region, established in 2018 with the following aims:

- ✓ to investigate problems and critical issues of common interest to the entire community of the Terracina hills;
- ✓ promote all initiatives for meeting and exchanging information on the life of the territories, the initiatives to be undertaken and the activities carried out
- ✓ elaborate possible solutions to be submitted to the competent public bodies, first and foremost the municipal administration;
- ✓ promote links with associations and/or committees for the pursuit of common interests;
- ✓ Promote the growth of the hill area of Terracina in a harmonious, social, cultural and moral development;
- ✓ Promote the protection and enhancement of the hill territory in all its aspects (ecological, landscape, archaeological, artistic, architectural, historical, social) and in all its potential (economic, tourist, sports, leisure use), against any form of degradation;
- ✓ promote the appropriate use of parks, nature reserves, sites of Community importance, special protection areas and ecological corridors in the direction of sustainable tourism;
- ✓ promote the hillside area and contribute to the sustainable development of the local economy through knowledge of the natural and cultural heritage, the dissemination of responsible forms of tourism, the safeguarding of local cultures and the valorisation of popular traditions.

In pursuit of its goals, the association cooperates with schools in the area.
